D. Exchange rates (valid for paragraphs A, B, C and D of this document)

For customer transactions in a foreign currency (such as incoming and outgoing payments), the reference exchange rate used by the bank for the purchase and sale of foreign currencies is based, unless otherwise agreed, on the bid or ask price determined at 1 p.m. (Hamburg time) on each trading day (settlement date) and published on its website (www.varengold.de/de/informatives/info-download/devisenkurse).

Purchases and sales of foreign currencies that cannot be executed by the bank during the normal course of business by the settlement date are settled by the bank at the exchange rate on the next settlement date. The bid or ask price calculation takes into account the settlement date in the international foreign exchange market for the respective exchange rates for each currency.

If the customer issues a transfer order in a currency other than the account currency, the account is nevertheless charged in the account currency. The exchange rate is determined as described above.

Any change in the reference exchange rate used in the conversion procedure becomes effective immediately and without prior notice to the customer.

For higher amounts (100,000.00 or more currency units) please contact our Treasury department via e-mail (treasury@varengold.de).
